Further Evidence Taken And Case Adjourned Till June 10th.

Mr. Edwards, K.C., appeared for Constables Harris, who makes his allegations, and the chief was represented by Mr. J. R. Layzell, K.C. Mr. R. Bayfield Williams, of Short, Cross & Biggar, watched the case for the defence. The case was heard at 10 o'clock, when an action for libel was pending against the chief of police.

Lamont Notes

Most of the farmers are getting down seedling now, in fine weather so suitable for such work. Now we are looking for rain. A good rain is required, not only for the grassland, but for seed sown. Lots of wheat fields are green, and the oats are peeping up also.

Therapeutic fires have been raging all over lately. Malestreich, a German, four miles east of Strathcona, burnt out his old nest, a cabin of Dan McLean's last, a fine horse, etc., all through fire. Mrs. Hare, up in hills had to flee for her life, and had stable burnt out, oats, etc. Mr. A. White lost his house by fire, not practice fire, but his household goods were saved, with several outbuildings. Loss about $2,000. Available literary at Brooks all went up in smoke.

Frank Walker, our M.P.P., was a visitor in Lamont lately. Frank looks well.

Frank Smith has purchased two more lots near the church from J. Johnston.

Mr. McKee has left Lamont for his home in the hills. Mr. Hill, butcher, is to occupy his house left vacant. Mr. Hill, bought out Mr. Shaw, the blacksmith, and has fitted up the old blacksmith shop into a fine butcher shop. Central restaurant in Lamont. Fred Smith has now a butcher from Largs, Scotland, officiating in his shop.

Great Disaster in China

Ten Thousand People Swept Away

By Tidal Wave.

Victoria, May 12.—News of the greatest disaster that China has known, a sudden tidal wave in the Yang Tze Kiang, which involves the loss of nearly 10,000 lives at Hankow.

It was brought by the steamer "Titan," which arrived tonight. A bore 20 ft. in height broke, without warning, down the river, overwhelming thousands of boats, sampans and small boats and wrecking some larger steamers.

Mr. Bell, agent of the "Titan," said that the disaster was a tidal wave, which was a great typhoon of Hong Kong. The disaster was a tidal wave, which was a great typhoon of Hong Kong. The disaster was a tidal wave, which was a great typhoon of Hong Kong.

It is usual, said Mr. Bell, to send a telegram down the river when a disaster occurs. The telegram was delayed finally arriving about the same time as the wave of water which swept down upon the sleeping people in the early morning, overturning thousands of craft and sweeping away thousands of Chinese in the torrent that swept away.

Some 3,000 Chinese were sleeping in sampans and small craft, in sheds and huts by the river side at Hankow and were enveloped by the great wave which swept broken junks, splintered sampans and a heterogeneous mass of debris which swarms of drowned Chinese mingled with the wreckage. The scene for many days after the disaster were horrible. The river side was strewn with dead and debris of wrecked craft for many miles.

Strathcona City Still Winning

Last evening Strathcona City won its thirteenth victory in the league series when it defeated the Edmonton Caledonians in a hard fought game by one goal to nil. The field was in poor shape for good football being wet and slippery and in consequence the game was not up to the usual standard. After their hard game with the Y. M. C. A. on Monday night, when several of their players received minor injuries, the locals were none too fit for such a hard contest and did not play with their usual dash and vim. The other half the Caledonians had not played a game for nearly a week and were fresh for the game. They were all heavy men and the ground was just to their liking. They have a good defence and a fair forward line, but on a good fast field the locals should be able to defeat them even more decisively. The play throughout was very even and if anything slightly in favor of the visitors. During the first half the Strathconians goal had several narrow shaves, but goalkeeper Pritchard displayed the best form he has shown this season and was equal to all emergencies. In the second period the locals forced the play and just half a minute before time Judge scored the only goal of the match on a nice pass from Christie. Bellamy, Carmichael, Abbott were the most conspicuous for the locals while Bert, Hope and A. Tod were the mainstay of the visitors. The game throughout was contested in the best of good spirit and at no time was there any unnecessary rough work. Mr. Jackson of the Y. M. C. A. made a most able referee.

The teams were STRATHCONA, N. A. and EDMONTON, C. A. Goals—Carmichael and Bellamy. Halves—Cox, Jennings and Abbott. Forwards—Burdett, Christie, Judge (capt.), Emblem and "Pots" Newman. Referee—Burdett. Caledonians. Goal—Parish. Backs—Bentley, Miles. Halves—Cox, P. Tod, Johnston. Forwards—Tweddle, A. Tod, Carr, Grant Hope.

English Fruit Crop Ruined

It is little wonder that old country people are looking to Bliny Alberta. Details are now to hand of the unparalleled severity of the weather all over the United Kingdom during the last week of April. The following is an extract from the papers of 25th April.

Even the remarkable record, set up by Thursday's weather, was broken yesterday. Practically the whole of the United Kingdom was thickly covered with snow, and as many as 37 degrees of frost were registered. No April records approaching these are to be found at the Meteorological Office, and it was stated at the Edinburgh that Scotland had not been swept by such a blizzard since 1869 when there was a snowstorm in May. The only previous instance in which snow fell heavily in April was in 1876, when the Raddell Observatory at Oxford registered 2 inches on Good Friday, and in 1879, when the month was characterized by heavy showers of hail, rain and snow.

Indeed, the ice of this late spell of Arctic weather is a quite exceptional disturbance of atmospheric pressure. For many days past a very high pressure has prevailed to the east of Iceland, and apparently over Greenland. This has caused a steady draught of air from the Polar regions, and small scale weather changes have passed south over the Atlantic to the north of our islands, ultimately taking in the United Kingdom.

Such a continuation of conditions, causing the bitter air from the frozen regions of the Pole to spread right across Western Europe is most unusual, and had it occurred a couple of months earlier, it would have produced 30 to 50 degrees of frost over England.

London awoke yesterday to find three or four inches of snow everywhere. The traffic had almost come to a stand and the sun had sent it down from the heavens in avalanches the City resembled the scene in an old-fashioned Christmas-card.

The parks might have been transported from Switzerland. Every branch was outlined in white, and it was a novel sight to see some treacherously thoughtful over with heaped-up snow, to which the young green foliage formed a curious contrast.

As the day advanced the sun shone brightly, and thousands of men, on their way to work, were employed in clearing thoroughfares. Slighter snowfalls followed.

The following reports show the effect of the frost and snow on the fruit crops—

The orchards in Ennismore damage. "Clive" district—Irreparable damage. Cornwall—Disastrous effect. Lancashire—Much destruction. Tiverton—Crops ruined. Radnorshire—Severe damage. Stophshire—Considerable loss. Westmorland—Serious outlook. Wiltshire—Disastrous effect.

In other places the lateness of the blossom has minimized the damage. Farmers are faced with a serious prospect. Thousands of lambs have died in the snow, garden crops have been cut level with the ground, and the loss of the season is being estimated. Drapers and other shopkeepers are also suffering, for spring goods of all kinds are at a discount.

DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL

Yekaterinostav, Russia, May 13.—The prisoners in the government jail here, who are being held in connection with the recent murder of the Emperor, have made a desperate attempt to break out.

Their efforts were vain, and were attended with a heavy loss of life. After making a breach in the wall of the guard room with a bomb, the prisoners leaped up and made a rush to get through the opening.

In the meanwhile the guard had been alerted, and ten of the prisoners who had succeeded in getting outside the walls were speedily shot to death. A number of other prisoners were either killed or wounded in the interior of the prison.

Fitzpatrick Has Scruples, Aylesworth Has None,

Premier Confronted With Draft of Bill of Which He Denied Knowledge

Ottawa, May 13.—Hon. Gro. Foster followed the Premier in the debate on the Elections Bill, taking the ground that the government members offered no proofs of any warrant for such a radical bill. The minister of justice drew attention to Clause 1, which provided for franchise of Manitoba, British Columbia, New Ontario and Northern Quebec, showing that Clause 1 was not intended for the Liberal mind. The bill was remarkable for what it did not contain. No provision was made for a simultaneous polling in the general elections, or for holding bye-elections within a reasonable time. It failed to improve the machinery for election protests, to prevent civil servants from engaging in political contests or provide adequate punishment for election crimes.

In violating the secrecy of the ballot the government was making an opening for legal corruption providing the means by making the vote to ascertain whether the elector delivers the goods or not and it would raise the fear of every poor man working for a corporation as possibly every vote would be known. He desired, to know why business of the country should be held back and civil service salaries emperied by not sooner deleting the bill of partisanship. It was an astounding thing that the premier did not know until today that the returning officers in two-thirds of the lists were names were struck off the lists were not considered for the places where boundaries overlapped. The absence of such practices stamps a man as in the name class as Rudeski.

Staples referred to the vagueness of the premier and his unwillingness to withdraw a single clause. He has not conceded a single thing that the Manitoba law had not already provided. Why was Manitoba singled out? The government had kept back lands and timber and was now plucking away the franchise. Mr. Staples then turned his attention to the speeches of the western members, finally charging that this bill was turned down by the Minister of Justice, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, in 1903 and now was resurrected.

Referring to the premier's former denial of knowledge of that bill, Staples asked again did the premier remember it.

The premier replied: "If the bill was drafted it never came to my knowledge."

Staples had no objection when he meant but has a copy of the bill, turned out by the printing bureau. "Here it is. Concealed in iniquity born in sin, and killed by chemistry of justice."

Staples asked the bill tabled as on.

Seven Miners Killed

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 13.—Seven mine workers were instantly killed and more than a dozen injured this afternoon in an explosion in the Mont Clair Colliery of the Empire Coal & Iron Company near here. The explosion occurred six hundred feet under ground and eighteen feet from the shaft in which the miners make their exit. A miner left a few feet from the explosion, but he was killed by the force of the explosion.

The explosion occurred in the extreme end of a gangway all of last night, which led to the timbers and the coal. Early to-day when the fire was discovered, the mine bosses and three men were driven back by gas shortly afterwards a slight explosion occurred burning the four men slightly. They then came out of the mine and later another gang of men was sent down to fight the fire.

the original document. Staples had an objection when he was through reading it. The premier rose to a point of order.

"I said that to my recollection, no such bill was ever drafted."

Staples then read the bill which he declared contained all the objectionable features of the present bill. When he finished reading, Staples said it was fortunate that they had a minister of justice who would not permit such an iniquitous and nefarious bill to become law. He referred to the present minister as a man of justice, but withdrew the phrase on a protest from the chair. The premier pointed out that all measures must come before the council and there be adopted.

I have no recollection of such a measure being made inquiries. Staples "According to my information a Liberal lawyer of Winnipeg assisted to draft the bill. The minister of justice refused to be a party. I say it was drawn up by the ex-minister of justice to steal the constitution of Manitoba."

The premier read and returned the bill. Concluding Staples again asked why this province was singled out, why it was so anxious to get a slap at the province.

Carvell followed Staples, declaring that the constitution of Manitoba was not to be tolerated in the eastern provinces. Government members had given convincing proof of faulty administration of the law and this was the reason for the introduction of this law. Carvell reviewed speeches of Conservative members and their failure to prosecute the offenders. He criticized Foster's inconsistency in regard to government officials taking part in elections, which had been encouraged when the Conservatives were in power.

He declared that in stopping supplies the Conservatives would add rather than embarrass the Liberals. Borden pointed out to Carvell that there was plenty of reform in the New Brunswick lists, alluding to Roth-say, which Carvell had not mentioned.

Carvell interpolated that this had been corrected and a repetition rendered impossible.

Borden proceeded, reminding the Liberals that they had refused the Liberals in 1903. He said the Nova Scotia Conservatives would be delighted with a law similar to that proposed for Manitoba. There the assessors on the municipal basis of used their discretion to the detriment of the Conservatives and the sheriffs who receive the lists are simply a part of the Liberal organization.

Seven Miners Killed

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 13.—A further between the Wilkesbarre Colliery and the Great Western and 200 men roads is the probable result of an explosion in the Great Western Colliery, the Great Western investigation, has just been started by Horace F. Burt, former president of the C.P.R. Stockholders in both the Great Western and C.P.R. are the same, and it is said the system can be properly operated in connection with C.P.R. Whether the Great Western would be a good thing for its further operation is being reported by the report of Burt, who has been employed by the Great Western stockholders to examine the premises.

The investigation of the explosion in the Great Western will cover every department. Burt will examine the physical condition first of all. It was to bring the road up to first class physical condition that the recent gold notes were issued and London stockholders were anxious to ascertain if the money was well spent.

The Murder Farm of Indiana

Lafayette, Ind., May 13. — James Darrow, mayor of Lafayette, after a conference with prominent citizens declared that the investigation into the Guinness murder mystery was as plain as great vigor. "Up to the present time," said the mayor, "there has been only a hazy inquiry into this amazing case. At no time all the taxes on the Guinness farm should have been dragged. The pond back of the grave yard has not been investigated. It will be about Lake and Fish Head Lake, both west of the farm, will be dragged. I suspect that more tragical evidence was obtained on Saturday that Mrs. Bella Guinness, wholesale murders, has accomplished in Chicago, who acted as the woman's agent in luring people to her 'murder farm' outside of La Fayette. The accomplices were a woman, whose attractiveness was used to lead victims on until they felt prey to her lust for murder. The facts were unearthed tonight by an investigation of the eighty-two letters written by the woman to Andrew Heiglein. The letters describe with certainty the woman's 'hell' with certainty the woman's fellow workers in the atrocious crimes. They speak of the accomplices as a 'nice young woman,' who will meet Heiglein 'at the train in Chicago and entertain him' until Mrs. Guinness arrives. In response to an invitation in the letters Andrew Heiglein went to Chicago. He remained there while waiting for his arrival and while awaiting her arrival spent his time at the home of her accomplice. The Chicago police tonight noticed and requested to make a search for the woman's confederate. Alice Heiglein, the farmer detective, whose work involved the mysteries of the 'house of horrors' left on a late train for his home in Lafayette, Ind., discouraged and disgusted at what he regarded as the incompetency and indifference of one of the officials of La Fayette county. He is so thoroughly convinced that either bungling, envious or meretricious mark the work of this important department that he is going to continue his search to bring to justice the murderers of his brother just as if nothing objective is being done by the authorities.

Heiglein openly expressed his disgust at the meetings of the 'prominent' officials. He says he has at first treated like a man under a criminal charge, and was cross-examined by State's Attorney Smith as if he were a prisoner at trial. He ignored the state's attorney's ire by informing him, he said, that he believed his brother had been murdered. Smith according to Heiglein, had ordered the latter out of his office. Heiglein then went to Sheriff Smolzer, who advised him. The dissensions which have been brewing among the officials of the city and county of La Fayette connected with the solving of the Guinness farm mystery broke out today. It is openly charged that the political affiliations of some of the men concerned had much to do with their attitude towards the labors of the sheriff and the prosecuting attorney, and a faction fight in the party to which the latter belongs is blamed also.

The local Presbyterian Tennis Club held a meeting last night when R. P. Leary was elected President and Miss Lyle Vice-president. The Club are laying down two courts. The subscription is $1 per annum for gentlemen and $2 for ladies.

LITTLE SHORT OF BARBAROUS.

Vancouver, B. C., May 13. — The grand jury, in their presentment to the judge of assize made the arraignment of the fall accommodation prohibited in the city, in the course of which the conditions prevailing at the local police station are denounced with "abhorrence," declared "little short of barbarous," and "a disgrace to the community." The sanitary arrangements are compared with those which existed "in the early days of the Newgate prison." The herding of juvenile offenders in the same cells as abandoned women is scathingly commented on, and the statement is made that the evil character of the prison calls loudly for reform. The presentment will rank as the most outspoken and sensational denunciation ever made by a grand jury of conditions coming under their notice in Vancouver.

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Vancouver, B. C., May 13.—Mrs. Revere, a Portuguese, was probably fatally stabbed to-day by a countryman named Matemo, who attempted suicide after he believed he had killed the woman. The latter's husband was asleep when Matemo forced his way into the woman's home. When the police arrived the place was a shambles. With a pocket knife he had cut Mrs. Revere in many places, slashing her breast and back, one cut being two feet long. Then the man had cut his own throat so that the windpipes protruded. Both may recover, though the woman's condition is very precarious.
